THE TOP 20 REASONS WHY GOD SHOULD LET YOU INTO HEAVEN

Have you ever asked yourself why God should let you into heaven? I'm sure on occasion you have bargained, contemplated, and expected that you would get into heaven based on any number of reasons, the least of which would be certain acts you did or plan to do to gain favor from God. Think about that now and see how your list compares to this list here...

20. You prayed – How often? Regularly? Just when you needed something? Basically, it's a direct line to God and one worth doing. It makes a difference.
19. You went to church – Again, how often? Regularly? Just when it was convenient or a major holiday? Attending church is not the only place or way to be spiritual or have a faith based relationship, but it has its benefits.
18. You were not judgmental – Most slip up here occasionally.
17. You were not selfish – Most slip up here more than occasionally.
16. You followed the Ten Commandments – Really? All of them?
15. You helped the poor – This is doable when the opportunity presents itself. It makes you feel good when you do. It also makes the people you help feel good too.
14. You spread the Good News - A tough task, but it can be done. Certainly not every day.
13. You volunteered your time - Once in awhile. It still counts. It also makes you feel good when you do. And your assistance is enormously appreciated.
12. You donated money to good causes - Maybe at the end of the year for a tax break. At least you think about it. There are many good causes out there that can use the help. And even though it's not stewardship season, please don't forget to support your church.

Couldn't resist the plug...

11. You followed the Golden Rule – This is also doable, and it sounds good since it's been drilled into you since you were a little kid. Sometimes, though, it's not reciprocated.
10. You were neither mean to nor hated anyone. Kudos to you if you catch yourself on this, but sometimes "those thoughts" do creep into your head; you just can't help it. But try.
9. You were kind to people – When the opportunity comes up or do you really make the extra effort?
8. You helped people in need – Ditto.
7. You did selfless things – This happens once in awhile, but it doesn't really feel real unless someone notices.
6. You loved your family unconditionally - Just because they're family it's expected, but sometimes they really get under your skin.
5. You opened your heart - This takes practice, but it is transformational when it does happen.
4. You gave thanks to God for your many blessings – Such an easy one to do every day, but sometimes we forget.
3. You believed – Once in awhile something happens that proves this or at least leans in this direction. When it does, the "aha" is priceless.
2. You had faith – You do, or you don't.
1. God loves you - Undeniable. Indisputable. Unquestionable. Already done. Free pass. Whatever you do or don't do in your life, this is the only one that really counts.

So how did you do? If you're human and not perfect, yes and yes, you probably have a few things to work on, but basically it is up to you to live the kind of life you want to live and be the kind of person you want to be. Whatever stage you are at in your life, it is never too late to be a better person, care deeply for others and have a relationship with God in some form or another. Ultimately, Jesus died for all your sins, yes we all have them, and God gets it. There's hope for us all.

Blessings,

Thoughts From The Rector

Confirmation

This month, we hope to complete the preparation of some of our teenagers and adults for the Sacrament of Confirmation and the rite of Reception into our Church. That occasion bids our prayers as the community of faith supporting these persons, but also bears some explanation.

In the first centuries of the Church, including the New Testament, baptism included the laying on of hands by the Apostles or their successors, the bishops. After washing with water in the name of the Trinity, the laying on of hands and anointing with oil confirmed the descent of the Holy Spirit upon the baptized believer through physical contact with one whose flesh had touched the flesh of Jesus. As the Church grew, two important shifts occurred that affected this rite: baptism for infants became standard practice, and bishops began to delegate some of their responsibilities to priests. So it is in our Church that priests perform baptisms, while Confirmation requires the presence and touch of a bishop.

This physical contact speaks both to the reality of the Incarnation and the unity of the Church. God took on flesh, and others touched his flesh, and their flesh touches ours through the centuries. We thus maintain physical contact with the Lord himself, who said above the bread, “this is my body,” and whose body we become with our bodies as a Church. God holds the unity of this Church through its bishops, who are the teachers of the faith, stewards of its mysteries, and heirs to the Apostles themselves.

We commit to a particular part of that Church through our local congregation at baptism, but our baptismal vows find their completion in commitment to the universal Church. Thus, the rites of Confirmation and Reception sometimes occur, as they will this month, at a cathedral. A cathedral means the church where a bishop resides- in our case the bishop of Maryland—but in many people’s minds, it simply means a really big church. There is some truth in that perception. A cathedral is often large, because it intentionally conveys the sensation of being swept up into something larger than ourselves.

Confirmation, therefore, signifies a mature commitment to the body of Christ through physical contact with a bishop, who signifies the unity of that body. Reception signifies a movement from one tradition to another within that body. People come to the Episcopal Church through a variety of paths, and some have already been confirmed by a bishop in another tradition. We therefore both recognize that Sacrament and recognize when a person joins our expression of the one body of Christ, as some plan to do this summer.

We hope that you will join in prayer this month for those in our parish and our diocese about to be received or confirmed. We hope that you will pray for them, encourage them with a letter or a spoken word, and let the commitments they make remind us of our own: to seek and serve Christ in all persons, love our neighbor as ourselves, and to commit ourselves to the Apostles teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread, and to the prayers. This we will do, with the help of God.

Peace,
Nathan+

Sunday, June 13

3:00pm - 5:00pm

Session III - How we can reimagine future healthcare for Southern Maryland. How we can implement it.

Register for Session III – <https://calvertlibrary.libnet.info/event/5075376>

We encourage attendance at all three sessions. To participate in Session III, you should attend at least one other session.

Speaker Steven K. Ragsdale continues the exploration of issues around building trust in our health care systems begun in Session I on April 25.

Steven Ragsdale has more than 25 years of experience in developing health care innovations and advancing pathways to better, safer, and more equitable care. His work with local hospitals, healthcare and other organizations in diversity, equity, and inclusion is guided by his steep understanding and desire to appreciate concepts that drive difference in society. He has enabled research, policy, and community efforts that expand services to underrepresented and vulnerable populations since 1997. Mr. Ragsdale is an associate faculty member at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.

Brought to you by the founder, Middleham and St. Peter's Parish with The Big Conversation Partners in Dismantling Racism and Privilege in Southern MD including: All Saints Episcopal Church, Calvert County Public Schools, CalvertHealth, Calvert Interfaith Council, Community Mediation Centers of Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's Counties, College of Southern Maryland, Concerned Black Women of Calvert Co, Emmanuel SDA Church – St. Leonard, Historic Sotterley, Inc., NAACP Branches of Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's Counties, Patuxent Friends (Quaker) Meeting, Public Libraries of Calvert, Charles, and St. Mary's Counties, Remnant Center of Excellence, Inc., St. Mary's Co. ### Big Tech and the Church: Imagining Opportunities & Challenges Going Forward

About this event

The pandemic forced the Church to move online to a greater extent than ever before. Suddenly worship was moved from in-person to online. Fellowship, community-building, and Christian education all became hybrid experiences. Much was good in this forced evolution. Positivity and creativity emerged as experiments found success or failed to capture the needs of the moment.

With the end of our current health pandemic in sight, questions remain about the relationship between the Church and technology (and, not just the technology tools but the companies that run these platforms as money-generating enterprises). During this panel, our participants will tackle questions like:

- Is 'online church' simply about accessing the tech needed for online services or are we baptizing Facebook, Instagram, whatever, and calling it 'church'?
- How do we avoid re-creating Christian subcultures online while imagining different and better futures in which all can contribute towards a new understanding?
- How can attention to relationship and a 'beyond in the midst' when online encourage us to pause and reflect?

Underlying these questions are societal and ethical issues raised by the actions of Big Tech companies like Facebook, Google, and Twitter. As we think about using these platforms for the Church, how do we account for the business models of friendship platforms, the platforms' monetization of data, and discerning approaches to free speech and taxation. Finally, with all this complexity, how can the Church be a counterpoint to the neglect that comes from both instant responses and an assumption of human control?

Join our panel for this important discussion.

Panelists include:

- Genelle Aldred – Head of Communications, The Pipeline, Owner, GA/C; London, United Kingdom
- Stacy Williams Duncan – Founder, Learning & Change Strategist at Learning ForTE, Rector, Little Fork Episcopal Church; Charlottesville, Virginia
- Mark Howe – CEO, MVH Solutions; Avignon, France
- John Reader – Associate Researcher, William Temple Foundation and Diocese of Oxford; Stockport, England, United Kingdom

Middleham and St. Peter's Youth Group 2021

We held our last youth group until September, and it was definitely a year to remember. Thank you to all the wonderful people who supported us, encouraged us and loved us. A special thank you to all the adults that helped make things happen. And of course, thank you to all the youth that came out to play, to learn, that step out of their comfort zone to learn audio equipment, live-streaming software, public speaking, gardening, baking, tent making, cable running... the list goes on.

Every year these kids do amazing things on their own, and within the church. This year was absolutely amazing to watch them step up to help us all come together, even when we physically could not. So, thank you kids, we could not have asked for a better youth group.

LYME DISEASE: WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

Please take the time to look at the brochure from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Centers for Disease, Control and Prevention. Important information about Lyme Disease is presented and will inform you of:

HOW IT'S SPREAD

WHERE IT'S FOUND

HOW IT'S PREVENTED

HOW IT'S DIAGNOSED

HOW IT'S TREATED

Submitted by Betty Eble on behalf of Parish Health

If you want more here is a blurb from

<https://www.cdc.gov/lyme/index.html>

Lyme disease is the most common vector-borne disease in the United States. Lyme disease is caused by the bacterium Borrelia burgdorferi and rarely, Borrelia mayonii. It is transmitted to humans through the bite of infected blacklegged ticks. Typical symptoms include fever, headache, fatigue, and a characteristic skin rash called erythema migrans. If left untreated, infection can spread to joints, the heart, and the nervous system. Lyme disease is diagnosed based on symptoms, physical findings (e.g., rash), and the possibility of exposure to infected ticks. Laboratory testing is helpful if used correctly and performed with validated methods. Most cases of Lyme disease can be treated successfully with a few weeks of antibiotics. Steps to prevent Lyme disease include using insect repellent, removing ticks promptly, applying pesticides, and reducing tick habitat. The ticks that transmit Lyme disease can occasionally transmit other tickborne diseases as well.

The fourth Monday of every month members of the church make dinner for the residents of Echo House. This is a greatly appreciated outreach that provides a dinner for people in transition who need a safe place to live as they work being able to support themselves.

We need volunteers to sign up for July - December 2021. There are funds available provided by an Endowment Grant to help cover your costs. You can team up with someone to make a dinner. LIVESTREAM
WORSHIP

We are also looking for more tech people for the live stream, we had two more youth interested and I am very thankful for their help. I will pass those names along to Jim Yoe so that we can work on "training" them (If I'm being completely honest, the bulk of the work is handled by the software. It can sound very technical, but the huge majority is making sure the stream is still running, and that the camera is pointed in the right place).

For information contact Jim Yoe - jmyoe@comcast.net
